

I have been a subscriber of XM for over two years and the addition of local weather and traffic has been a terrific service for the listener. I travel daily between Washington DC and Baltimore and use the traffic report to help with choosing my route.

What would be the purpose of removing the traffic and weather? FM radio has been the same slop for years. They have no local flavor at all WHFS is the exact same as WXRK and WMMR is the same also. Drive up and down the east coast every city has the same lame stations.

Leave XM alone, they are much more important issues that you could be dealing with.

thanks
